Prospects Flattering.

We are glad to find out that our old friend, Fred A. Miller, is rapidly coming to the front. A few weeks since he was a humble cigar manufacturer and his name unknown to fame. To-day he is recognized as a man of great genius and is rapidly speeding toward fame and fortune. Few men in recent years have gained such prominence in so short a time. Ordinarily the name of an inventor dies almost as soon as it is born—the inventor and the thing invented dying together. But not so with Fred A. Miller. He and his invention seem destined to live forever. From the very day his patent papers were granted by the United States Patent Office, his genius has been heralded throughout the country and his fame has been growing by leaps and bounds. Some three weeks ago THE CLIMAX contained a brief notice of Mr. Miller's Sanitary Wire Bottle Case upon which he had been granted a patent. At the time, the inventor had been made one or two good offers for the manufacture of his case. Since then, however, he has been flooded with inquiries, offers and propositions from every section of the country—East, West, North, and South. The past week representatives from two large manufacturing concerns in Cincinnati and Louisville respectively, were here in the interests of their firms with the object in view of manufacturing the case. These parties, we understand, were very desirous of obtaining the rights to manufacture and offered some splendid inducements. As to the acceptance or non-acceptance of these offers, we are not prepared to state. However, the inventor, dispatched his personal representative, Mr. L. C. Colby, of Cincinnati, to arrange with the Northern interests that have just negotiated a large deal in this section of the country. The great eagerness with which manufacturers and bottling works throughout the country have welcomed the invention, bespeaks success and allays all doubts and fears. Mr. Miller is in touch with parties from the far West, and also some Eastern parties who are anxious to purchase the rights to manufacture and sell his case. But he is going on the same lines as his State, "SLOW BUT SURE." He has made rapid and substantial progress, and in the next few weeks we expect to see an evolution in the manufacture of bottle cases of the country, the new sanitary wire case in every city, town and hamlet, supplanting the bulky and unsanitary wooden case. Like hundreds of others, we have thoroughly inspected the case and for neatness, durability, practicability and stability, it surpasses anything we have seen. As practical men, we see great possibilities of a highly lucrative business, and rejoice that one of our old subscribers and long-time friends is the lucky man. The case is of wire construction and built so as to hold the bottles in proper form. According to the claims of scientists, it will be in great demand by the wine manufacturers, for its superior construction gives many advantages over the present method of handling. It is absolutely sanitary, lighter and stronger, takes up less space and is cheaper than any other case. It is practical in every form and with every prospect of making Fred A. Miller a fortune.

An Awful Lot.

Between seven and eight thousand bottles of whisky and beer were scheduled to be destroyed in Nashville, Monday, by Aust & McGugin, attorneys for the State in the recent confiscation of local whisky shops. The original intention of dumping the liquor into the river could not be carried out, as the Government will not permit so many bottles to be piled into the river in one heap. Just how the liquor would be destroyed is yet to be determined. All of this liquor was seized in Nashville, and besides the bottled goods about ten barrels will go the same way.

Dawson Let Go.

At a meeting of the officials of the Lexington Base Ball Club it was decided to give Catcher "Hub" Dawson his release to become effective at once. The officials announced that it was with the greatest regret that they had reached their decision, but that it was necessary on account of the fact that they were forced to cut their payroll to fourteen men. Dawson has been with the local team for a long time, and is popular with both his teammates and the fans. His work, when he is on his stride, is of the best. He is a good, hard working backstop and a good hitter, although a little slow on the bases. Blackwell, his successor, is much younger and shows great promise. —Lexington Leader.

Will Save Money.

Regardless of conditions, text books belonging to the children in the public schools of Kentucky will be traded to the book companies at the contract price. As a result this will save the parents of the children thousands of dollars. Superintendent Hamlett has decided that under the Act of 1914 publishers will be required to take up and exchange books regardless of condition, provided they are of the same grade. The ruling was made to correct an impression that has gone out that such books offered in exchange would have to be in good condition. Hamlett's interpretation of the law is that the "good condition" clause applies only to such books as are held by dealers on their shelves which, of course, will be taken up by the contractors at the original net prices.

W. Bales, Mrs. T. E. Baldwin, Miss Ollie Baldwin, Mrs. C. B. Brittain, Mr. Baldwin Brittain, Mr. Jas. Parkes, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Turley, Mrs. Ellen Gibson, Mrs. Hugh White and Mrs. Mary Bates Miller. The delicious dinner was served on the lawn, which was a very pleasant feature of the evening.

One of the prettiest card parties of the summer season was given on Friday evening by Messrs. Mary and Elizabeth Wagers at their beautiful country home on the Lancaster pike. The house was lovely in garden flowers and plants, and the hours were charming and informal and greatly enjoyed by the Misses Wagers guests. After the games a delightful lunch was served and the prizes went to Miss Tommie Cole Covington, ladies' prize, Mr. Curtis Park, gents' prize, and the consolations to Mr. Arnold Hanger and Miss Russell White. The guests for the evening were: Misses Sarah Coy, Hattie Lee Million, Russell Stout, Russell White, Mary Louise Deatherage, Henrietta Luxon, Frances Wagers, Duncan Foster, Dorothy Perry, Mary Allen Deatherage, Tommie Cole and Margaret Covington, and Miss Johnnie Cramer, of Lexington, and Messrs. Arnold Hanger, Joel James and Curtis Park, William Burnam, Edwin Phelps, Edwin Turley, Edwin Powell, Hart Perry, J. E. Elmore, Harold Oldham, James Dykes and Ed Cobb.

Miss Myne Wagers, Miss Francis Wagers, and Miss Ann Cohen spent the week end at Olympia Springs.

Miss Esther Walton has returned to her home at Allentown, after a visit to Mrs. C. H. Vaught, on W. Main street.

Mrs. Ella Buckley, of Indianapolis, Ind., arrived last night. She will spend several days here with friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parks, of Grand Junction, Colorado, have returned home after spending several weeks with friends here.

Mrs. J. G. Bosley gave a pretty afternoon porch party last week to Miss Nichols, of Shelbyville, the attractive guest of Mrs. B. L. Middleton.

Messrs. Jane Stockton and Julia White are spending a week with Mrs. A. R. Denny, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Thomas Smith, in Fayette county.

The following young people enjoyed a delightful bird supper given at Joes, on Thursday evening by the Young Men of the party. Messrs. Madge Burnam, Ellen Miller, Callie Shackelford, Blanche Hamilton, Hester and Margaret Covington, Jane Stockton, Julia White, Elizabeth Shackelford and Ester Walton, of Allentown, and Messrs. Edward Stockton, Eugene Miller, Tom Baldwin, Lucien Burnam, McCreary Simmons, Arnold Hanger, George Goodloe, Barnett Chennault, Field White and Preston Smith.

Mrs. Geo. Bogard entertained about twenty of her friends and neighbors on last Wednesday evening at her home on Fourth street. Games were played and delicious refreshments served and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all present. The assembled guests expressed sincere regrets when they were apprised of the fact that Mrs. Bogard and little son, George T. Jr., who is the idol of the neighborhood, would soon join her husband, who has a lucrative position with an electric light plant at Big Stone Gap, Va. For several years past Mr. Bogard has been the local manager of the Kentucky Utilities Company and is a young man of sterling worth. The Bogards are popular with a wide circle of friends, whose hearty good wishes go with them to their new home.

The Grand View's guest list Sunday contained two names of especial interest to Kentuckians: Mr. Ed. C. Walton, formerly of Stanford and Richmond Ky., and his bride, formerly Miss Marcum, daughter of Col. Tom Marcum, of Calletsburg, Ky. They were accompanied by the gallant Capt. Van Duser, of Lake land. Mr. Walton is business manager of the Orlando Daily Reporter-Star, one of Florida's most forceful journals. He is a born newspaper man and has only one fault, that of working too hard and sticking too close to his office to get personally acquainted with Florida editors, who are the best fellows on earth. Mrs. Walton is a queenly woman, of fine figure, dark eyes and hair, white satin complexion, and a beautiful type of Kentucky womanhood, and of a family of the front rank in that State. Though a Blue Grass belle and in love with Old Kentucky, she adores this State and declares Orlando is the Paradise of Florida.—Eustis (Fla.) Lake Region.

Her Ambitious Husband. A letter to the New York Times tells of a stenographer whose eyes gave out and who turned to the farm for a livelihood.

"I had $800 he says, "but was possessed of a good, strong wife, who did all of the heavy work, such as plowing, planting, cutting wood, etc. A wife is an absolute necessity—on the farm. I am a Northerner by birth and naturally ambitious."

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

A state of war now exists in practically every part of continental Europe save the Scandinavian and Iberian peninsulas.

All news of the movements of the German army comes from London, Paris and Brussels, Berlin reporting that no information of movements is being given out there. From the dispatches from the other capitals it appears that the German army has begun a general advance with the main attack for the present levelled against the allied forces in Belgium. Reinforcements are being rushed from Germany for this attack. It is said that Russia has mobilized 2,000,000 men on the German and Austrian frontiers, 500,000 on the Roumanian frontier and has 3,000,000 men more held in reserve—a total army of 5,500,000 men. The information, if correct, would seem to indicate that Russia has completed her mobilization more quickly than was expected and is about ready to attack both Germany and Austria from the east.

The Japanese Ultimatum. Japan has sent an ultimatum to Germany demanding that Germany evacuate Kiaochau and withdraw all warships from far eastern waters. Following the dispatch of the ultimatum, the Japanese minister of foreign affairs conferred with the American ambassador, giving broad assurances that American interests in the Orient will be safeguarded and the integrity of China upheld.

It is officially announced that a large French force has entered Belgium and is proceeding from Charleroi to Gemoux, ten miles northwest of Namur. French outposts claim a victory over the German outposts at Chambrey, in the German province of Lorraine, while two French battalions near La Garde, in the same province, were driven back across the border. The French war office announces that the French, after successful resistance for five days in the Vosges mountains, have occupied the region of the Saale Pass, commanding the valley of the Bruche, which leads to Strasbourg, capital of the German province of Alsace, over which every Frenchman longs to see the tri-color wave.

Field Marshal Sir John French, commanding the British field army, is reported to have joined General Joseph Joffre, the French commander in chief, at headquarters. This is believed to indicate that the British and French armies have effected a juncture and are now co-operating. The location of the headquarters is not announced.

The invasion of Herzegovina by the combined forces of the Serbians and Montenegrins is reported to be continuing, and, according to reports, the Herzegovinians are arming in support of the invaders.

The North Sea Cleared. The British fleet has cleared the North sea so that merchant vessels are now passing freely between Scandinavian ports and England, bringing provisions to the United Kingdom. The German fleet is reported to be still bottled up in the eastern part of the North sea. The British Mediterranean fleet and the French fleet are reported to be searching for the Austrian fleet, last reported at Pola. No news is given out by the British war office regarding the expeditionary forces now on the continent.

The French successes in the passes of the Vosges mountains have immeasurably strengthened their mastery of the heights and approaches commanding Alsace and Lorraine. These successes appear to have duplicated in brilliancy the manner in which the enemy was driven back, first from Almont to Cleary, then from Cleary to Avricourt, and finally out of Avricourt to refuge in Saarburg. A full Bavarian army corps had been entrusted with the occupation of this section, and according to the reports this army not only was crumpled up, but was crushed by a flank movement, which pushed it back with heavy losses on Saarburg.

It is announced in St. Petersburg that Russian troops have captured the town of Sobal, in Galicia, leading to Lemberg. Russian advisers say also that the Russians now holding Eydkubnen, on the east Prussian border, have repulsed an attempt by the Germans to recapture the town. The Russian fleet is said still to command the Gulf of Finland, although German ships have been seen in the Baltic near the mouth of the gulf.

EARLY ENDING IS PREDICTED How the Experts View Probable Extension of War Zone.

London special: The spreading of the war zone, which it is believed will be the inevitable outcome of the Japanese ultimatum to Germany, is likely to be followed by an open break in the already tensely drawn situation between Austria and Italy.

Should this break come, in the opinion of these observers, it would mean, in the present situation, the speedy crumbling of Austria's power and the complete isolation of Germany. With no outside help and with her navy bottled up, her commerce destroyed, her far eastern trade and possessions gone, the experts say it would mean that the present war would be brought to an early end even should the German army win some victories in Belgium and France.

The Panama canal is now open to the commerce of the world.

Special Meeting City Council.

There was a special meeting of the City Council on Thursday night, the purpose of the meeting being the discussion of the new telephone franchise for the city of Richmond. A large number of the members of the local bar and representative citizens were present, Judge W. R. Shackelford, who drafted the franchise for the city, appeared on the scene promptly at 8 o'clock. After reading the stipulations of the franchise as a whole, it was taken up and discussed section by section by members of the City Council, representatives of the Cumberland Telephone Company, and the people. Some paragraphs of the franchise were bitterly assailed and several heated arguments indulged in while discussing their merits or demerits, Hon. C. C. Wallace denouncing in bitter and sarcastic words its draft, claiming that it was a non-exclusive franchise and just what the Cumberland Company desired. He produced the scale of rates charged by telephone companies in several cities, which showed that the people of Richmond are at present paying a much higher rate than the people in other places. Mr. Wallace made an impassioned plea for a lower rate than the one prevailing, and insisted that instead of a non-exclusive franchise Council should adopt an exclusive franchise. At 10:30 o'clock very little had been done except wrangle. The chief attorney for the Telephone Company being present, stated to the Council that he desired to fully discuss his side of the case and that it would consume considerable time to go into details. Upon this statement, it was unanimously agreed by all present that further discussion be postponed until next Friday night, August 21, when the franchise question will be thoroughly threshed out. Make it your business to be there.

Prof. Emerson Gwynn, who had previously petitioned the city for a building permit to erect a frame building in Burnamwood, said building to be used for a private school, was voted down by the council. This is a prominent residential section of the city, and some of the dwellers therein protested, on the ground that the erection of this school building in their midst would depreciate the value of their property, and the council so voted. However, Prof. Gwynn informed the mayor and council to instruct their city attorney to prepare to fight the case, as he proposed to begin work and would test the case in the courts.

How to Get Rid of Black-birds.

As the blackbirds are an unmitigated nuisance when they congregate and no one has ever been able to devise a plan to get rid of them, the following suggestion from a writer in the Country Gentleman may be of value:

Three years ago I discovered a method of driving the blackbirds away from my trees that has been very effective and has been used every year since. After trimming the limbs from the shade trees I painted the cut parts with pine tar. I noticed that the birds left in a very short time after flying into the trees that evening, and on the second evening they came and went almost immediately. They did not return for about three weeks, when I again painted parts of the trees with pine tar. After the first evening the birds did not return to the trees during the entire summer. Pine tar seems to do the trick!

Infection And Insect Bites Dangerous.

Mosquitoes, flies and other insects, which breed quickly in garbage pails, ponds of stagnant water, barns, musty places, etc., are carriers of disease. Every time they bite you, they inject poison into your system from which some dread disease may result. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. It is antiseptic and a few drops will neutralize the infection caused by insect bites or rusty nails, Sores. You can not afford to be without it in your home. Money back if not satisfied. Only 25c, at your Drug-gist.

THE RAINS DESCENDED

By BREVARD MAYES CONNOR.

"Oh, if it would only rain," she had said wearily. Little enough to take offense at if we weigh the words one by one, and consider their simple import, but she had said it more than once that day, and the reiteration had told on the man's nerves, already strained to the breaking point by weeks of enervating dry heat.

He had looked across the table with a look in his eyes hers could not bear.

"Will--you--shut--up!" She had sat stunned for a moment, and then, choking down a dry sob, said:

"I'm sorry, Dick. You've been so worried. It's been terrible--this year."

His face did not soften, and he laughed harshly.

"Yes, this year and last, and the year before that, and all the rest of the years to come probably." He stood up abruptly. "I'm going to town."

She noticed the slight stoop of the boyish shoulders and the listless drag of his feet, and then she turned and looked out across the baking fields, where the crowding rows of gray-green corn drooped as if the heat were heavy and bearing them down.

The child that lay on the bed tossed and wailed fretfully. After she had soothed it back into an uneasy slumber, she commenced to clear the table, working swiftly to ease the constriction in her breast.

When her fingers touched the finely-chiseled edges of the cut-glass sugar-bowl that stood so incongruously amid their homely ware, she paused and whispered aloud the thought that this bare touch had awakened.

"He travels the fastest who travels alone."

His mother had said it--the same who had given them the sugar-bowl--said it in her presence when she and Dick had gone to tell her their resolve, that they were going to be married.

Placing the ironing-board across the backs of two chairs, she lifted the iron from the stove and tested it with a moistened finger. The light breeze that stirred the curtains felt cool on her damp brow, but she did not look up to see the green haze.

Neither did she note the far-off hum, like the hum of bees when they gather at the home hive at nightfall--a hum that grew louder, and swelled in volume till it sounded like the rumble of a thousand busy looms--louder, louder.

An eerie note sang through it; louder and higher, and louder and higher like the increasing roar of advancing war.

The shrieks of the child seemed feeble and impotent in the face of the roar, as she seized it up and plunged head down into the swirling dust outside.

For a moment she was but a plaything of the storm that whirled her skirts above her head and blinded her. She was hurled along until she stumbled and fell to her knees on a mound of earth, which with a heart-leap of joy she recognized as the storm-house.

Then the door yielded, crashed down over their heads, and from pandemonium she stepped into peace.

Long she sat with wide-stretched eyes staring into the darkness of their refuge, until things began to take on a dim, ghostly shape, and even the dirt wall opposite came into view.

The mutter was dying lower and lower, and the whine was stilled, when suddenly there came a clear, sharp tap on the tin door of their refuge. She caught her breath and strained to hear. Yes, there was another, and two, three, four, until it sounded like the preliminary rattle and then the full rolling of a drum.

The woman breathed in deeply, audibly, and then she screamed:

"Baby!--the rain!--the rain!"

Swiftly she rushed up the four steps and pushed back the trap-door, half sobbing, half laughing crazily. She lifted her arms and let the water stream down her upturned face, as if she were drinking it in along with the thirsty earth.

It was salvation to her life that had been so near ruin that very day, for it was salvation to the corn wherein lay their hopes, and with a glad heart she turned to watch the torrents pouring on their fields.

If crept into her face, into her eyes, until she could no longer bear to look, and turned. There lay the house in a ludicrous mass, one beam erect, like a man lying on his side, his foot in the air.

She did not hear the mad splashing of a horse down the road, where her husband, bareheaded, came galloping wildly through the rain, a terrible fear in his eyes.

He did not notice the fields, nor even the house, but when he saw her standing there disconsolate, his eyes lighted up with a great joy, and the look of terror fled. Swiftly he came up to her.

"Dick!" she cried. "Oh, Dick, look at the corn!" but he opened his arms and stilled her against his breast.

"The corn? What do I care for the corn?" And he kissed her again and again.

MADE WITH FRIED RHUBARB

Kentucky Delicacy That Has Many Admirers Among Those Who Are Fond of Good Eating.

The Kentucky variation of fried rhubarb pie is as follows: Cook the rhubarb to a thick, sweet marmalade, flavoring with orange, lemon, nutmeg or ginger, according to fancy, or a few large seeded and chopped raisins may be cooked with the rhubarb. The crust is made of rich biscuit or shortcake dough, rolled thin as possible and size of a tea plate, fried in an iron frying pan and turned like a pancake. As each one is fried a nice brown, it is spread with the marmalade. Four or five are put together like layer cake, and served hot, cutting them like pie. The crust must be short enough to be tender and fried a crisp, but not hard, brown, cutting easily.

Many readers have asked for directions for making rhubarb jelly for dessert. Cut a pound of the fruit into inch lengths and put into a baking dish with a pint of sugar, a pint of water and a little ginger root. Bake until the rhubarb is tender. Soften half a boxful of gelatin with half a cupful of cold water, using the pink gelatin. Dissolve over hot water and strain into the rhubarb; then add the juice of a lemon. Pour into a mold wet with cold water and set away to get firm. Serve with garnish of whipped cream and clear lemon jelly made quite stiff and cut in cubes. Lida Ames Willis.

CARE OF THE REFRIGERATOR

Matter That Is of Much Importance in the Preservation of Family's Health.

Cleanliness does come "next to godliness" as regards your refrigerator--more, perhaps, than in any other part of the establishment. The housekeeper's first aim regarding her refrigerator must be absolute cleanliness. A few hints concerning this article may be helpful to the inexperienced.

Look over the ice box daily. Wash it at least three times a week. If the pipe connecting the ice chamber and drip pan is adjustable it should be removed and scalded once a week, for you will be surprised to notice the green slime that forms an inside coating. Do not simply empty the drip pan once or twice daily. Clean it regularly also. There is nothing better for the purpose than old-fashioned "salt soda" combined with plenty of boiling water.

Never be guilty of putting ice in the chest wrapped in newspapers. That is well enough to keep in a box or tub and is good at times. It is more sanitary to wash ice before placing it in the ice chamber, and you avoid the risk of clogging the waste pipe with particles of straw and sawdust.

One-Prong Fork.

A clever housewife has almost invented a kitchen tool. Taking an ordinary, long-handled, three-pronged cook's fork, she filed off the two outer prongs, leaving only one, and uses this to test whether a vegetable or piece of meat is tender. The one prong makes less mark and is less apt to break the food than the three prongs. The fork is good also to remove caps from milk bottles, and especially so in taking olives and other foods from long-necked bottles and cans, such as sections of fruit, etc. Indeed, this housekeeper believes that she couldn't "keep kitchen" without it.

When You Sweep.

For sweeping a room neatly there is nothing like newspaper aid. Take a page of newspaper or other convenient paper, wet in hot water and squeeze until it ceases to drip. Tear into pieces the size of one's hand, cast them all over the carpet, then sweep and most of the dust in the room, if you use your broom judiciously, will be gathered into the papers. After a velvet or other heavy pile carpet is thoroughly swept, a springing with ammonia and water will preserve its brightness wonderfully.

Bolled Salmon.

One and one-half pound piece of salmon, put in double boiler with good slice of butter; season with salt and pepper, a little parsley, mace, thyme, sage, celery and onion; cover tightly and let steam one and one-half hours without uncovering; then add one and one-half glasses of white wine, with a little lemon juice; steam 20 minutes longer and serve. Bouillon may be used instead of wine if preferred.

Connecticut Corn Bread.

Sift together one cupful each of corn meal and flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, a half teaspoonful of soda, a half teaspoonful of salt and three tablespoonfuls of sugar. Add one cupful of sour cream or sweet milk. If the milk is used add also two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Lastly, add two eggs without beating. Mix well and bake 20 minutes in a steady oven.

Corn Fritters.

Beat two eggs light with a cupful of milk, to which have been added a pinch of soda and a tablespoonful of melted butter; stir into this two cupfuls of cooked or canned corn, chopped fine; add two tablespoonfuls of flour and salt and pepper to taste, and fry on a soapstone griddle. Eat hot as you would griddle cakes.

To Make Sweet Corn Tender.

Use sugar, instead of salt, when boiling corn, as it makes it tender and sweet. Serve with butter and salt.

WHAT THE PAPERS SAY.

Now boys, tie a piece of fat meat over the sore spots, forget your disappointment and buckle on your armor to fight the common enemy—the Republicans and Bull Moose.—Danville Messenger.

As the Republicans and Bull Moose will never unite, the election of Governor Beckham in November is doubly assured.—Danville Messenger.

"I will do all in my power to help elect Beckham in November," said Congressman A. O. Stanley.

GRACEFUL LOSER
Carlisle Mercury: At least one thing may be said in favor of our good Governor, "Jeems" E. He is a doggone graceful loser. And the old gentleman is not used to defeat either.

The Lexington Herald says with the local option fight on in that city the forecast for the early fall is dry weather, surrounded by an abundant crop of uncut mint and State-wide thirst.

Our old friends, the Bull Moose and Republicans, failed to poll many votes in the primary. They seem to have reached the logical conclusion that neither can win, so don't care a cuss who's nominated.—Danville Messenger.

FEW WILL OPPOSE BECKHAM.

We have heard a few—a very few—express the opinion that some Democrats would not support Governor Beckham in November. We do not believe the number will be appreciable, so few will they be. There have been many more bitterly fought primaries than the one just passed, and yet almost always Democrats have accepted the result, closed ranks and presented a common front to the enemy. To accept the will of the majority and fight loyally to carry it into effect is a basic principle of our governmental system and it is the very essence of Democracy.—Eminence News.

QUIET ELECTION DAY.

The quietness of the election on Saturday reminded one of other days, when there were almost constant disputes at the polls, and often serious difficulties. This can be attributed to two things: One is the absence of the open saloon and the other is that the people are becoming better educated along moral and religious lines. A hot-headed man can keep a community in a constant uproar, and like other nuisances, they also must go.—Jesseamine News.

AFTER VOICE LAW-BREAKER.

In several judicial districts in Kentucky the judges issued special warnings against the buying of votes in the county primary election. It is hoped that some good work will be done toward handling not only the poor devil who sells his vote but the worse law-breaker, the buyer.—Fleming Gazette.

NOMINATED BY HONEST VOTE.

Beckham has been nominated by an honest vote and is sure to be elected by a tremendous majority in November. All over Kentucky Beckham clubs will be organized and the Democratic machinery set in motion for November 2.—Jesseamine News.

Constipation Causes Sickness.

Political.

The Washington Times says that with night sessions the Senate can adjourn on Sept. 1. Let's have night sessions.

A Congressman says he has improved his health by eating sand. A good many of them might improve their popularity if they had a little more "sand" in their craws.

Secretary William Jennings Bryan is for universal peace, so he began at home by declaring for universal suffrage.

Attorney General Garnett has ruled that it is illegal for State officers to collect from the State the money spent for expenses from their homes to the capital, or vice versa.

The Lexington Herald says that with big surplus in the banks and big crops on the way, the Republicans are again caught in the middle of a bad fix for "knock" stuff for their forthcoming calamity howls.

The official count has been made in all counties of the State in the late primary and certified to the Election Commission at Frankfort, which will canvass the returns and issue certificates of nomination to the successful candidates. On his way to Washington to resume his Congressional duties, Stanley said at Frankfort: "We'll all get behind the Democratic nominee and elect him." He accepts his defeat with grace and good humor.

Calamity Item.—The Wilson administration finished its first fiscal year $33,984,452 07 to the good.

The Case of L. L. Cantelou.

The case of L. L. Cantelou, Clarendon, Texas, is similar to that of many others who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "After trying a doctor for several months, and using different kinds of medicine for my wife, who had been troubled with severe bowel complaint for several months, I bought a 25c bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using the second bottle she was entirely cured." For sale by all dealers.

How Common Things Originated.

The original "blue stocking" was a man named Stillingfleet. In 1781 there arose a fashion in London of literary assemblies of ladies who met to hear a lecture from a literary character and afterward participated in a general conversation. Stillingfleet, a leading lecturer, wore blue stockings and so gave a designation to the assemblies.

The word "humbug" is of Irish origin and means soft copper or worthless money. It was originally applied to the money issued by James II at the Dublin mint. It was made of lead, copper, pewter, brass or any other metal he found available, and soon became known by the people as "humbug," or "humbug."

The Hungarian of three centuries ago was entitled to wear one feather in his cap for every Turk he killed, hence the expression now so common, "a feather in his cap."

The thistle, shamrock and rose are the emblems of Scotland, Ireland and England, probably because of the prevalence of those plants in those countries.

Ink is mentioned in the Egyptian inscriptions about the time of the Exodus.

The first forgery of a Bank of England note was executed by a man who was anxious to make a good impression on his sweetheart. He forged 20 of the notes and placed them in her hand as proof of his wealth. No attempt was made to pass them, but the forgery was discovered and he was hanged. His name was Vaughn and his execution occurred in 1758.

The crossmark instead of a signature did not originate in ignorance. It was always appended to signatures in medieval times as an attestation of good faith.

Cock fighting was introduced into England in 1191.

Painting in both oil and water colors was known in Egypt 1900 B. C.

Banks were first started in Lombardy by the Jewish money lenders. The first public bank was that of Venice, established in 1550.

Will Bolt The Ticket.

The Mt. Sterling Gazette, one of the oldest and best-known Republican papers in Eastern Kentucky, has announced editorially that it will not support former Governor A. E. Willson, the Republican nominee for U. S. Senator, for the long term. The reason given is personal differences.

The Gazette is edited by Stanley O. Wood, a son of the late John C. Wood, who was a member of the Republican State Campaign Committee, which led Mr. Willson's campaign for Governor in 1907. The editorial leaves the inference that the paper will support Mr. Beckham in preference to Willson or Vance.

1,000 Moonlight Schools.

One thousand moonlight schools will open their doors to men and women, educated, half-educated and illiterate, on September 7, 1914. It is estimated by the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission from the reports received at its office from county superintendents and teachers. Montgomery, Lincoln, Hardin, Clay, McCreary, Mercer, Gosmary, Clinton, Pike, Leslie, Campbell, Kenton and other counties in the State are preparing to make war on illiteracy. September 7th is to be the evening of the opening Moonlight schools. It being Labor Day a canvass of the districts will be made by the teachers on that day to urge men and women to attend.

"One thousand Moonlight Schools to open Sept. 7th, 50,000 adults enrolled, 10,000 illiterates taught" is the slogan of the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission for September.

Several newspapers, where local option elections are to be held, have declared they will be neutral. A neutral newspaper does not amount to anything. We would rather be cursed by one side than by both sides.

Grease spots on marble may be removed by applying powdered magnesia.

To remove pitch, grease and tar stains soak in turpentine. Scrape off carefully with a knife all the loose surface dirt, and then sponge off clean with turpentine.

To remove sewing machine oil, rub with lard and let stand for several hours, then wash with soap and water.

To remove fruit stains, stretch the fabric containing the stain over the top of a basin and pour boiling water on the stains.

To remove scorch stains, wet the spot scorched, rub with soap and bleach in the sun.

Doan's Regulators are recommended by many who say they operate easily, without griping and without bad after-effects. 25c at all drug stores.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

At The Concert.

"Mother, why do they play some of the music so low and the other so very loud?"

Not So Strange After All.

You may think it strange that so many people are cured of stomach trouble by Chamberlain's Tablets. You would not, however, if you should give them a trial. They strengthen and invigorate the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Mrs. Rosie Rish, Wabash, Ind., writes: "Nothing did me the least good until I began using Chamberlain's Tablets. It is decidedly the best medicine for stomach trouble I have ever used." For sale by all dealers.

Enterprising.

"You want my consent to marry my daughter?" asked Mr. Cumrox.

"I do," replied the young man.

"But my daughter says she wouldn't think of marrying you!"

"Still your consent would be a good recommendation for me with some other family!"

Summer Constipation Dangerous.

Constipation in summer-time is more dangerous than in the fall, winter or spring. The food you eat is often contaminated and is more likely to ferment in your stomach. Then you are apt to drink much cold water during the hot weather, thus injuring your stomach. Colic, Fever, Typhoid Poisoning and other ills are natural results. Po-Do-Lax will keep you well, which aids the bowels of the congested poisonous waste. Po-Do-Lax will make you feel better. Pleasant and effective. Take a dose to-night. 50c at your Druggist.

Hot Springs Liver Buttons, Hot Springs Rheumatism Remedy and Hot Springs Blood Remedy are sold in Richmond by the Richmond Drug Co.

If you honestly wish to bestow your sympathy on a worthy object, select the husband of a society leader!

Some people are so fond of getting the best of a bargain that they actually like to beat a carpet.

Prevention of Hydrophobia.

The executive office of the State Board of Health of Kentucky has issued the following edict to peace officers, health officers and the people of Kentucky:

"A recent examination of dogs' heads from widely separated sections of the State shows an alarming prevalence of hydrophobia. Under the authority conferred upon it by law, the State Board of Health hereby requests and directs all persons owning valuable dogs to keep them upon their own premises or to have them carefully muzzled, and sheriffs, chiefs of police, constables and the people generally are hereby requested and directed to destroy, as painlessly as possible, all unmuzzled dogs running at large with a view to the prevention of hydrophobia. Failure to observe this request is punishable by fine before any magistrate.

"Through arrangements with the United States Public Health Service, the State Board of Health is enabled to give the Pasteur treatment at the Bacteriological Laboratory, Bowling Green, Kentucky, without expense, to individuals who have been bitten by rabid dogs or other animals. Dogs' heads suspected of being mad should be sent to the Laboratory, by express prepaid, and the result of the examination will be telephoned or telegraphed.

"This Board takes this occasion to inform the people of Kentucky that mad stones are useless if one is really bitten by an infected animal. Their use gives a false sense of security and their use is forbidden by law.

"Given under our hands and the seal of the State Board of Health, this August 11, 1914.

SUMMER DISEASE OF CATTLE

Treatment of Infectious Sore Eyes is Inexpensive and Not Difficult of Application.

(By C. C. LIPP, Assistant Veterinarian, University Farm, St. Paul, Minn.)

Infectious sore eyes of cattle most frequently makes its appearance during the summer months, although it may also occasionally appear at other times. The germs may be introduced into a herd by the purchase of an animal suffering with the disease, but it is undoubtedly spread in other ways as it sometimes appears suddenly and without any known means of entrance to the premises.

As this disease is infectious, it spreads from one animal to others, and sometimes runs through an entire herd. Its duration in one animal is from one to two weeks, usually about ten days, after which it has run its course and disappears. Although total blindness may result, the sight is not usually permanently impaired. Very often but one eye is affected, the other eye, if affected at all, shows the symptoms from several days to a week later.

The first symptom is a profuse flow of tears. Then the eye becomes very sensitive to light, and is kept constantly closed. Later the eyelids swell, and the discharge shows distinct traces of pus or matter. About the same time a white speck appears on the surface of the eyeball. This speck gradually enlarges and may cover the entire front of the eye, causing temporary blindness.

Treatment is inexpensive and easily applied. When begun in time recovery is hastened, and further spread of the disease is prevented. It is always best to confine the animals in a comfortable but well-darkened stall. Feed sparingly on cooling, laxative foods. Give a physic of a pound of epsom salts in two quarts of water to an animal weighing 1,000 pounds. Add half a grain of zinc solution and ten grains of boric acid to an ounce of distilled water. Use a medicine dropper to put a few drops of this mixture in the eye several times a day.

PROPER ATTENTION TO EWES

First Essential for Success in Handling Early Lambs is Comfortable Barn for Sheep.

The flock owner who breeds his ewes to lamb during the late winter and early spring months should provide favorable conditions at the right time. Severe losses result from attempting to handle early lambs without having adequate accommodations to provide comfort for the flock, writes L. J. Merideth in Homestead. The first essential to success in handling early lambs is a comfortable and well arranged sheep barn. It should be well lighted, dry and properly ventilated, and there must be plenty of pens and facilities for caring for each ewe as soon as she shows evidence of lambing.

Prolific Shropshires.

We have found it desirable to keep on hand an adequate supply of light partitions and mangers for constructing pens for the ewes as fast as needed. In this way the flock can have the run of the whole sheep barn or it can quickly be subdivided as the occasion may demand. It will be found very convenient to have a light manger that can be made fast to the corner of each pen, so that roughage may be fed regularly without being trampled under foot and made unpalatable.

Ewes should have plenty of good, nutritious food during the winter, not only to maintain a good flesh condition, but to nourish the unborn lambs. Roughage alone is not enough. A light ration of grain should be fed regularly. A proper mixture of oats, barley, corn and peas will give good results. For roughage, clover or alfalfa hay and ensilage will furnish about the right proportions of bulk and succulence.

The Value of Sheep.

The sheep farm is notable for the absence of weeds, the condition of the fences and the general neatness of appearance. Sheep make the soil more fertile, furnish two sources of income, wool and mutton, and are usually associated with the best system of farming in every country. More farmers should raise them.

The Twenty Year Test.

"Some twenty years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Geo. W. Brock, publisher of the Enterprise, Aberdeen, Md. "I discovered that it was a quick and safe cure for diarrhoea. Since then no one can sell me anything said to be 'just as good.' During all these years I have used it and recommended it many times, and it has never disappointed anyone." For sale by all dealers.

The Telephone Always on Guard

THERE is never a moment, day or night, when your Bell Telephone is not a protection.

In the busy hours of the day and the silent watches of the night, the switchboard operator is always ready to answer a call.

The telephone is as much a part of the protective system of each community as the police and fire departments.

There's always a feeling of security in the knowledge that close at hand is the means of calling aid quickly when you most need it.

More than 70,000 cities and towns are protected day and night by the Bell Telephone system. 7,500,000 Bell telephones are on guard. In thousands of rural communities it is the chief reliance in emergencies and times of danger.

STRAIGHTFORWARD TESTIMONY.

Many Richmond Citizens Have Profited By It.

If you have backache, urinary troubles, days of dizziness, headaches or nervousness, strike at the seat of the trouble. These are often symptoms of weak kidneys and there is grave danger in delay. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney ailments—are endorsed by over 30,000 people. Your neighbors recommend this remedy—have proved its merit in many tests. Richmond readers should take fresh courage in the straightforward testimony of a Richmond citizen.

M. M. Grinstead, 438 Walnut street, Richmond, Ky., says: "Since I used Doan's Kidney Pills, I have had no more backache and I feel that I can tell others what a good remedy they are. Besides pains in my back and kidneys, I had other symptoms of kidney complaint. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a box at Middleton's Drug Store and they cured me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Grinstead had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, New York.

Infection And Insect Bites Dangerous.

Mosquitoes, flies and other insects, which breed quickly in garbage pails, ponds of stagnant water, barns, musty places, etc., are carriers of disease. Every time they bite you, they inject poison into your system from which some dread disease may result. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment. It is antiseptic and a few drops will neutralize the infection caused by insect bites or rusty nails. Sloan's Liniment disinfects Cuts, Bruises and Sores. You can not afford to be without it in your home. Money back if not satisfied. Only 25c, at your Drug-ist.

A "Dry" Town Episode.

A prominent woman of Huntington "put one over" her husband recently when a wagon drove up to her door with ten gallons of fine whisky. She told the driver it couldn't be possible that the whisky was for them, but he declared it was and insisted on unloading it, which he did, taking it to the cellar. She went to the 'phone and called up her husband, who is a business man of that place, and asked him if it was not a mistake, but he said no, that he had ordered it when the city went dry that they might have it for medicinal purposes, camphor, etc., etc. She very promptly responded all right, and hanging up the receiver called up the drug store and asked them to send up ten pounds of camphor. When the package reached her she proceeded to put one pound into each gallon of this high-priced whisky, and no doubt her husband will find that he has sufficient camphor to last him a life time.—Big Sandy News.

From Congressman Helm.

The postoffices in several of the large cities of the East have brought the producer and consumer in direct touch with each other, to their mutual advantage and profit, by means of the parcel post. I have succeeded in having this system installed in the postoffices at Louisville and Cincinnati. The small postage enables the producer to reach a large market in which to sell that which he has been throwing away—to convert what was formerly a waste into a profit. You will receive literature from the post-office officials explaining this system. The purpose is to familiarize the producers with the system so they will avail themselves of its uses and profits. I am endeavoring to place this literature in the hands of every producer in our district and trust that I will have your valuable aid in pushing it along. If the producers will sell their surplus and place the proceeds in postal savings banks they will have a snug sum at Christmas. Your friend,

A Dollar That Can't Be Spent.

BY HERBERT KAUFMAN.

Author of "Do Something! Be Something!"

Every dollar spent in advertising is not only a seed dollar which produces a profit for the merchant, but is actually retained by him even after he has paid it to the publisher.

Advertising creates a good will equal to the cost of the publicity. While it uses funds it does not use them up. It he's the founder of a business to grow rich and then keeps his business alive after his death.

It eliminates the personal equation. It perpetuates confidence in the store and makes it possible for a merchant to withdraw from business without having the profits of the business withdrawn from him. It changes a name to an institution—an institution which will survive its builder.

It is really an insurance policy which costs nothing—pays a premium each year instead of calling for one and renders it possible to change the entire personnel of a business without disturbing its prosperity.

Advertising renders the business stronger than the man—indeed of his presence. It perpetuates systems of merchandising, the track of which is left for others to follow.

A business which is not advertised must rely upon the personality of its proprietor, and personality in business is a decreasing factor. The public does not want to know the man who owns the store—it isn't interested in him but in his goods. When an unadvertised business is sold it is only worth as much as its stock of goods and its fixtures. There is no good will to be paid for—it does not exist—it has not been created. The name over the door means nothing except to the limited stream of people from the immediate neighborhood, any of whom could tell you more about some store ten miles away which has regularly delivered its shop news to their homes.

It is as short-sighted for a man to build a business which dies with his death or ceases with his inaction, as it is unfair for him not to provide for the continuance of its income to his family. —Copyright.

Centenarian Baptized In Pike County Stream.

"Aunt" Cosy Hopkins, 100 years old, and perhaps the oldest woman in Kentucky, last week was admitted as a member of the Free Will Baptist church and baptised by immersion in the Big Sandy River by the Rev. N. T. Hopkins, formerly Congressman from this district. The aged woman lives on Herald's Branch, a tributary to the Big Sandy River, and a place in the river near the mouth of this creek was chosen for the baptismal ceremony on account of her advanced age. The unusual incident attracted a large number of spectators. Mrs. Hopkins is the mother of one son and three daughters. Some weeks ago she became interested in a series of open air meetings which her kinsmen, the former Congressman, was holding at Pikeville, and as she hopes to live and enjoy many more years yet to come, she decided to associate herself with some branch of the Christian faith.

Information To The County Superintendents.

Each County Superintendent is entitled to send four appointees to the University each year in the Department of Education. These may be made in addition to the general appointments and have the same value. These appointments, however, cannot be used in any other course in the University. These appointments may be made at any time between June 1st and December 31st. Only students entering a course leading to a degree in the University are eligible to appointment. This is true both of the general appointment to the University and of the appointment to the Department of Education.

Land, Stock, Crop

On Wednesday of last week a car-load of cattle was shipped to Cincinnati by Louis Brandenburg. He paid 6-1-4c for the lot.

Matt Shearer shipped a car-load of extra good cattle to Cincinnati last Friday.

J. M. Evans shipped to Cincinnati a car-load of cattle last week, price paid at the market.

J. W. Wagers & Bro. shipped to Cincinnati 3 cars of cattle, sheep and hogs; on the 12th 3 cars of hogs and 2 cars of sheep.

The latest estimate by the Burley Society is that the Burley crop this year will be 30,000,000 pounds short.

The National appropriation for farm demonstration in Kentucky has been raised from $22,500 to $45,000.

C. R. Martin, of Danville, has purchased four 2-year-old mules and 3 head of cattle from Clelland Clauch, of Perryville, for $525.

During the electrical storm last Saturday afternoon Allen S. Edelen had three fine mares killed by lightning. A new barn of Nim Buster's was struck by lightning and entirely consumed. The tobacco crop of Mercer county will hardly make over 60 per cent., despite late rains.—Harrodsburg Leader.

C. C. McDonald, H. C. Caywood and Monte Fox purchased a number of cattle in this county at 8c to 8-1-14c. Fox alone purchased over 500 head. Walter Bridges sold to George Priest, of New York, a walk-trot mare by Highland Gay for $400. She is said to be a fine prospect for the show ring.—Mt. Sterling Advocate.

There is still another drop of $1 per barrel in the price of potatoes, equal in all to a reduction of 80 cents per bushel. Persons on the inside of the potato question say the price will finally land at 60 per bushel. The crop this year seems to have been tremendous everywhere except in Kentucky, where the crop is at most a total failure. The outlook for a while was considerable on the blue order for Kentucky potato consumers.

Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman, in submitting the crop report as of August 1, declared it is the most discouraging issued by the department in many seasons. He declares conditions have deteriorated in all sections of the State. Corn has dropped from a condition of 81 per cent. to 65 per cent. Burley tobacco from 65 to 55 per cent.; dark tobacco from 67 to 62 per cent. Clover pastures are disappearing, showing a condition of 55 per cent. Blue grass 64 and alfalfa 65 per cent.

Small Grounds For Action.

Big Land Deal In Prospect.

Every indication points that the big land deal of Franklin Allison for 150,000 acres in Rockcastle, Pulaski, Laurel and Jackson counties will be a go. From one to five men have been working on the deal for two weeks, and Judge L. W. Bethune, who is employed to draw the deed and make abstracts, is busy preparing the necessary papers. Many new tracts have been added during the week, some selling outright, some only selling the mineral right. On a deal of such proportions as the one under consideration there is room for many a slip, but it is very evident there is very great interest on the part of outsiders who claim to represent financial interests amply able to handle the deal.—Mt. Vernon Signal.

Old Governor's Mansion to Be Sold.

The old Executive mansion at Frankfort, the site of which the Commonwealth acquired by gift in 1794 as part of the consideration for choosing that place for the capital, will be sold at auction in Frankfort on September 12 at 2 p. m. Gov. McCreary and the entire State Capital Commission will be present at the sale.

The lot is 316x160 feet with the mansion, in which Governors for 100 years, until this year, have lived, will be offered in parcels of six lots, then ten lots and as a whole, the sale being made in the manner which will realize the most money.

In 1792 when under the first Constitution a committee was authorized to select the location for the capital, and Lexington and other towns contended with Frankfort for the site, 100 acres of land was parcelled into lots, every other one being given to the State. The old capitol site, the prison and mansion grounds were part of the tract. Two years later Andrew Holmes deeded the capitol site to the Commonwealth, and, it is understood, the transfer included the mansion site. The deeds are recorded in Woodford county.

Moonshining.
Mr. W. M. Mays, ex-Deputy United States Marshal, returned Wednesday from a sojourn in the mountains of Kentucky, where he has been in the employ of Mr. M. C. Richardson, General Deputy Collector for this district. They have been quite busy breaking into still houses and destroying a large amount of whisky. They raided stills in Owsley, Lee, Estill, Jackson and Rockcastle, in all of which they were successful in finding stills, which they destroyed and arrested the men. The officers have certainly been on the alert and have earned the praise that is due them for close attention and diligence.

A Cop With Modesty.
At Paris, Ky., the other day a policeman is said to have ordered a woman, who was parading at the railway station in a "stay-in-the-shade" dress, to put on more clothes. On the woman declaring that she had none with her, the officer at once went to his home and returned with one of his wife's skirts, which he told her to put on. The city council allowed the policeman $2.50 for the petti-skirt. The Winchester Democrat thinks this a commendable crusade for modesty, which may be so; but it looks to us more like an easy way to sell old clothes. Bet the same petti-skirt could have been bought new in this town for $2.49 at least.—Cynthiana Democrat.

Shake-up at Frankfort.
There are persistent rumors around Frankfort that a big shake up and house cleaning are due in some of the State departments and institutions, and that this will be coincident with Governor McCleary's return from his vacation trip at Atlantic City. At any rate, it seems that there are a lot of officeholders on the anxious seat, not knowing what all this talk means. Governor McCleary, so the story goes, took with him to Atlantic City the returns from the various counties in the senatorial race, and has had plenty of time to compare and analyze them. According to reports in circulation, some resignations are to be asked for and these places filled with others, and from the amount of "foot-rotting" being done in certain quarters at this time, it would appear that there is something behind the rumors.—Louisville Times.

Prices Are Soaring.
All kinds of foodstuffs have advanced in price, and with the scarcity of garden sals, is causing very much trouble. The European war has already begun to effect the supply of practically every commodity consumed by Richmond people, and in nearly every case this means an increase in price. This fact, which will cause deep concern to every man and woman of moderate means, and may mean genuine distress to the poor, is substantiated by the constant upward trend of prices in the wholesale market, and which will sooner or later be felt in every retail store in the city as well as throughout the United States. In the matter of foodstuffs, these rising prices are already beginning to be felt. Housekeepers, who two months ago could buy sugar for preserving at five cents a pound, are now obliged to pay between eight and nine. Rice is up a cent, cured meats are two cents higher, coffee is up three cents. Fresh meats are feeling the effect of the general upward rise and are two to four cents a pound higher, although the western cattle ranges are beginning to be swept for the fall beef shipment, and the export markets are glutted with fat cattle which are awaiting safe shipment to Europe.

Simplified Spelling.
The simplified spelling has worked very well, we suppose, but what the newspaper man and compositor want is simplified writing. First Ship Through Canal.
Saturday, 15th, the ship, Ancon, made the first trip through the Panama Canal. That is, she is the first ocean-going vessel to make the through trip. The vessel was fully laden and made the trip in about 9 hours, the Canal being cleared of other traffic in order that her trip might be unimpeded. Gov. A CARD.
To the Democrats of the 25th Judicial District.

A recent issue of the Kentucky Register contains an authorized statement from Judge W. R. Shackelford, of Richmond, which is being construed as a virtual announcement of his candidacy for the nomination for circuit judge.

I have been aware for some time that a few persons in the district want me to have opposition as a means of punishing me for having done my duty, but I had hoped that this opposition would be withheld until the year in which the election occurs.

I intend to ask the Democrats of the district to again honor me with the nomination, but I prefer not to become a candidate or to do any electioneering before next year.

The people need a respite from politics, and I am sure that the Democrats of the district, instead of being annoyed by the candidacy of persons who want to be elected to office next year, prefer to devote their political energies this fall to electing the Democratic candidates who were nominated two weeks ago.

There's no occasion for a long campaign. A full State ticket is to be nominated and elected next year, at the same time that a circuit judge will be nominated and elected, yet, little thought will be given to the State races before next spring.

An agitation of only a month or two suffices for the great political parties of the Nation to choose their candidates for the Presidency, and a Presidential campaign lasts only from August until November. Why, then, should a campaign for district and county offices be any longer?

There is another controlling reason why I am unwilling to be drawn into a long campaign. I consider the duties of a circuit judge the most delicate that any official is called upon to discharge. Nice, intricate questions of right and wrong between litigants in civil cases, and between the people and the defendants in criminal prosecutions must be decided by the judge, and he cannot perform that delicate duty with any sort of satisfaction to himself or to the people he serves if he is harassed and his mind distracted by an active contest for office.

I have never traded justice, or the rights of the people for votes or popularity, and I never intend to do so; but fear that I may appear to be doing that, embarrases any man imbued with the proper conception of the office, who sits as judge and is, at the same time, a candidate.

I trust that the Democrats of the district will take this view of the situation, appreciate my position and not be hasty in giving pledges, but will withhold them until the issues to be considered—some of which vitally concern the people of the district—are fully presented, as it is my purpose they shall be.

I have received numerous unsolicited pledges of support, and these voluntary expressions of friendship and confidence are highly prized; and I do not want any of my friends to feel that my disinclination to become involved in a long campaign, or any apparent indifference as to the result, comes from any lack on my part of due appreciation of their friendship or their interest in my behalf.

Respectfully,
J. M. BENTON.

Firewood Consumption In Kentucky.

There are 3,520,000 cords of wood, valued at $7,256,000 consumed on the farms of Kentucky, according to a report just issued by the U. S. Agricultural Department. The total yearly firewood consumption in this State is 3,679,000 cords with a value of $7,770,000. The consumption in the cities of Kentucky is 146,000 cords, and 12,500 cords are used in the mineral operations of the State yearly.

In continental United States the annual consumption of firewood amounts to 85,937,000 cords, valued at $250,000,000. Of this amount 69,961,000 cords are used on the farms, 14,222,000 cords in the cities of the nation and 1,751,000 cords are used in the mines of the United States. The average value of wood consumed in the United States is $2.91 per cord and $2.11 in Kentucky.

Mr. Wilson is Right, as Usual.

Loans to any of the Powers engaged in war should not be lenders a large return. For that reason the desire of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. to meet the request of France for an advance of $400,000,000 is readily understood from the standpoint of the bankers. Some financial risk would be incurred, of course, but the prospective profits are most tempting.

As was to be expected, the President, to whom the question has been submitted, has approached it in a much broader spirit. The United States is neutral. Each of the nations now at war is largely represented in its citizenship. The supply of money by an American firm to any one of the warring Governments will be, in effect, a violation of neutrality. More that it will aid materially in prolonging hostilities. The ending of the war is the one thing most to be desired.

The President's reasons for questioning the advisability of the loan are sound.

MARRIED
Married, at the home of Mr. Bert Harvey, near Valley View, Thursday, 13th, Mr. Rice Tillett and Mrs. Molly Newby. After a delightful luncheon, the contracting parties left for a short bridal trip to Cincinnati. After returning they will be at home, near Lexington, their future home, to their friends.

The following from the Lancaster Record will be of interest to the many relatives and friends of the bride, who was for a number of years a member of the faculty of Caldwell High School, of this city:

A surprise to many of their friends will be the announcement of the marriage of Miss Stella Hendren and Mr. Jesse Gully, which took place in the parlors of the Phoenix Hotel, in Lexington, last Thursday, 6th. They have been devoted to each other for some time, but it was not known that the culmination of their courtship was so near at hand. After the ceremony the young couple remained a few days in Lexington for the fair, after which they returned home in Mr. Gully's new auto and will take up their residence at the Gully home near McCreary.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hendren, is a young lady of much beauty and many accomplishments and has been a member of Garrard's splendid corps of school teachers, and is very popular. Mr. Gully, known to his friends as "Jesse," is a son of Robert Gully and is one of the staunch young farmers of the county, a young gentleman of exemplary habits and an all-around good citizen and progressive farmer.

On the 12th inst. John Cline and Miss Edie Hill were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

Elford Richardson and Miss Margaret Burnam Lear, of this county, were married on August 15.

The new autumn styles are arriving at B. E. Belue & Co.'s.

BIRTHS
Born, to the wife of Jesse M. Alverston, of the Lawrenceburg News, on the 10th inst., a handsome boy.

Born, to the wife of Nicholas Harber, an 8-pound baby girl. Mrs. Harber is at the home of her parents, in Versailles. We extend to the happy parents our congratulations and wish for their new-born daughter a life of happiness.

DEATHS
William Overton, aged 17 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Isaacs, died at the home of his parents, on the Jacks Creek pike, after an illness of two hours from an attack of acute meningitis. Thus a bright light in their home is extinguished, and the bereaved parents have the sympathy of their many friends in their great loss. The burial occurred in the family burying-ground on Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

New furniture makes a new home

Dear Amy:—I've been to see Laura. You remember she and her husband stayed with us one night. She and Billy both liked my home so well that Billy "loosened up" and told Laura to go down town and buy all the furniture she wanted. Laura has just fitted out her house from the front door of the hall to the back door of the kitchen. She is the happiest woman in town.

With love, Lou.

P. S.—Laura asked me where to buy. Knowing she would get good strong, stylish furniture at lowest prices, I, of course, sent her to

Richmond, Ky., August 19, 1914

ATTENTION GENTLEMEN—

For the past 15 days I have waged a most successful campaign against the stock of Men's Wearing Apparel of R. C. H. Covington Co.

I have now moved my army into winter quarters.

During my attack I cleaned up nearly every department of Summer Goods. Odds and Ends and goods carried over from last season so when you read of their FALL OPENING, stand at attention ready to take up double quick time to see the best line of Men's Wear ever shown in Central Kentucky, none excepted. You will not be disappointed in either Price, Quality or Looks.

If its new and true they have it, if they haven't and you want it, they will get it.

Before Breaking Camp I noticed case after case of Fall Shoes, Fall Suits, etc., etc., being received. So remember "The Early Bird Gets The Worm."

Trusting the many friends I met this season will appreciate the immense savings I allowed them and that they will prove loyal and lasting friends to the firm of R. C. H. Covington Co., I beg to remain

Yours very truly,
